

SENATOR MCKENZIE: Thank you, Mr. President. I consulted with the McKenzie Raiders, although I believe we renamed ourselves the Three Musketeers, and would tell you I think we've had adequate discussion. We certainly look forward to more discussion on Select File. This is an important issue, very, very big challenge for us to take on. Appreciate the dialogue and the concerns and questions from all the members this morning and this afternoon and would ask for your support in advancing 742 to Select File. Thank you.

SENATOR WESELY: Thank you, Senator McKenzie. The Chair recognizes Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, the culture corner is at it again. I can't resist. The Three Musketeers, yes, they existed, but the most famous was the fourth one named D'Artagnan. Some people say that translates to Dart Man. I'm not sure whether it does or not, but if they do a good enough job they may get a fourth member to their team. I voted for the committee amendments because they are better than what the original green copy of the bill had been. Because Senator McKenzie and her Raiders have shown such a willingness to work with people on this very serious matter, and I'm not sure what my ultimate vote will be, I'm not going to prolong the discussion at this time. I'm not going to raise again the concerns I have about the bill, but I'm unable to vote in favor of advancing it. If I had to vote yea or nay on final passage right now, I would vote no. I don't know enough about the bill. It doesn't have enough in it that gives me the assurances that I would have to have to cast a yes vote for it. I'm not arguing against its advancement because there is much work to be done and I'm sure it will be done, but at this point I simply can't vote in favor of it.

SENATOR WESELY: Thank you, Senator Chambers. The Chair recognizes Senator Robinson.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Mr. President, members of the body, I stand to support the passage or the movement of LB 742. I think Senator McKenzie has really done an outstanding job of answering questions. Now I know she had to pull a couple of other people along with her, but I think she really did a good job. Senator Bromm did good. He had to get off his phone there and I don't know, there was some fellow running back and forth between the
